Girl Scouts:

This is your camp! Whatever you would like most to do in living in your summer home is possible under the friendly guidance and help of your counselors. Excellent riding and swimming are two of the most popular sports. Hiking, cooking meals out and singing by the campfire are precious parts of camping. As you grow older you learn more and more real camping skills so that you may take that long overnight trip or manage all of your own campfire cooking.

Living in a unit with girls of your own age and grade, you have a wonderful opportunity to make and appreciate real friendships. You'll probably have a chance to "be in a play" or challenge your cabinmates to an Archery or deck tennis game. You can make puppets or create a useful article of clay or wood or leather. You'll have a chance to just sit and gaze or to walk long distances from the bluff across the lovely valley from your own wooded camp site in the Ozark foothills. Have you ever watched the stars or learned what they were? You'll do that too.

Your parents are asked to cooperate with you and with your Camp Director and counselors in making this summer's Camp Scott experience the happiest, healthiest, and most adventurous you've ever had.

We'll be looking for you.

PRECAMP VISITING DAYS

You may inspect the camp and facilities at 3:00-5:00 the following Sundays on May 26th and June 2nd. On June 9th, at the same time you may meet the camp Director and Staff. As long as the girls are healthy and happy it will probably not be necessary for parents or friends to visit during the sessions.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS

Required physical examinations must be taken no more than a week preceding the time Scouts expect to arrive in camp. Examinations may be made by your family physician. We send you the blank to be filled out.

TRADING POST

Campers may deposit an optional amount of money at the town office for small items available at the camp store. Stamps, stationery, craft materials, and other incidentals will be charged to this account and the balance will be refunded. $2.00 is usually sufficient. There is no extra charge for horseback riding.
